

JK Global Opportunities Fund

August 2017

The Fund rose +2.19% in August (GBP Class, Net of Fees).

August was dominated by news of the ever dwindling coterie of Trump personnel, hurricane Harvey, as well as an escalation of North Korean antics in the Asia Pacific region. Given these events markets proved resilient, although geopolitics will continue to affect sentiment for the foreseeable future. Trump though seems to be exerting less and less influence on markets. However, given 'The Donald' now resembles what could generously be described as a low expectation stock, there is in fact the potential for a positive surprise somewhere – maybe in the guise of tax reform? – Or maybe we are just clutching at straws! In the coming months though, and in the aftermath of hurricane Harvey, what is clear is that Washington is going to have to get its act together by passing spending bills, avoiding a government shutdown and focusing on delivering infrastructure projects sooner rather than later.

As mentioned above, we have been somewhat surprised at the resilience of markets in the face of recent North Korean events, and can only infer that the lack of any meaningful North Korean risk premium is because military action is still viewed as very much a tail risk by markets. This is a classic Nash equilibrium where no one gains from a unilateral change of strategy if the strategies of the others remains unchanged. Therefore, in the market's view, we have a stable equilibrium. We are not so convinced given the somewhat volatile nature of the two main actors, namely Trump and Kim. However, we do sympathise somewhat with Trump in so much as the current situation is a result of inaction by previous administrations and in particular China. Ultimately we feel that once the U.S. is certain that a 'rogue' nation like North Korea has an ICBM with a nuclear warhead capable of hitting the US mainland that this will prove unacceptable. We are concerned that given the current rate of development of the North's nuclear capabilities that this moment is not far off.

Despite these geopolitical concerns and stretched valuations, we continue to feel that it is right to give risk assets the benefit of the doubt. Equities still look attractive relative to most alternatives, the global economy is moving along in a rather synchronised manner (for once), and inflation remains low, and financial conditions in general supportive. Recession risk is low, sentiment mixed at best, and investors far too long bonds (in our view). Too many people are looking for a major correction.

Risk Factors: Past performance may not be repeated and should not be seen as a guide to future performance. The value of investments and the income from them may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Exchange rates may cause the value of overseas investments and the income arising from them to rise or fall. The levels and bases of and reliefs from taxation may change. Investors should consult their own tax adviser in order to understand any applicable tax consequences. This list of risk factors is not complete and reference should be made to the documentation relating to the specific investment. An investment should only be made after receiving and reviewing the prospectus or offering memorandum and the risk factors contained therein.

No Warranty: The information, opinions, estimates and content in this document are provided without any representations or warranties of any kind (including, without limitation, representations or warranties as to their accuracy, reliability or completeness), whether express or implied.

Limitation of Liability: JKIM does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect, special or consequential loss or damage (in each case, including but not limited to: business interruption, loss of profits, loss of revenue, loss of anticipated savings and/or loss of good will), arising from, or in connection with the use of information contained in this document; or any decisions you make based on the information, opinions, estimates and content made available to you in this document whether or not such loss is reasonable foreseeable as at the date you read this document or JKIM has been advised of the possibility of you incurring such loss or damage, and whether occasioned by the negligence of JKIM or its employees, agent or subcontractors. This is not intended to exclude or restrict any duty or liability that JKIM has to its customers under the "regulatory system" in the United Kingdom (as defined in the FCA Handbook) or which may not be excluded or restricted as a matter of applicable law.
