

JK Global Opportunities Fund

June 2016

The Fund fell -1.35% in June (GBP Class, Net of Fees).

The Fund fell -1.35% during the month, which was not too bad an outturn given the uncertainty and volatility resulting from the U.K.'s decision to leave the E.U. A defining moment indeed. As Winston Churchill quipped "the best argument against democracy is a five-minute conversation with the average voter" whilst noting that "democracy is the worst form of government, except for all the others".

At the end of the day who knows how things will pan out. Brexit is potentially a significant moment in post- World War II European history. Ultimately the UK referendum should serve as a wake-up call to developed country governments around the world that they can no longer ignore the unbalanced distribution of income and wealth that has amplified post the GFC, and that has been in evidence on incomes of middle and low income earners in developed economies for the last 20 years or more. Inequality is a complex issue, but one that is easiest solved by stronger economic growth and rising productivity, which in turn leads to higher wages and employment. This is easier said than done in a world of elevated debt levels, cautious corporates who hoard cash rather than invest, and a political class unwilling to take tough decisions and who seem content to rely on central banks to do the heavy lifting for them.

In light of the events this month have we changed our investment strategy? The answer is 'no'. We continue to believe that the major developed world bond markets are in the final stages – in fact the 'blow-off' stage - of a major bubble and remain short, selling into strength. Within global equity markets we continue to believe the best medium-term value resides in Asia and emerging markets, although we have to respect the performance of the US equity market and have increased our long position. We believe the YEN will weaken from here, and remain short the RMB and long gold as a hedge.

In our view 'Brexit' will be used as an excuse by G7 policymakers to implement the next phase of policy easing via some type of fiscal stimulus monetisation. Japan is already close to implementing just such a policy. We have stated our views on this and negative interest rates before, but you have to play the hand you are dealt by the authorities and there has to be a reasonably high probability that such actions are taken positively – initially at least – by risk assets.

July has started strongly for the Fund, which contains, in addition to the positions noted above, a selection of equities from across the globe, which represent exceptional value. One example of this is the Fund's position in Arm Holdings UK (ARM LN), which has today been bid for by Softbank (9984) of Japan at a 43% premium to the closing price on Friday.

JK Global Opportunities Fund is a weekly dealing UCITS fund. It can be held by ISA's, SIPP's, Pensions, Charities, Family offices, Endowments, as a direct holding or through a Private Wealth Manager. All classes have Reporting Status.

Risk Factors: Past performance may not be repeated and should not be seen as a guide to future performance. The value of investments and the income from them may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Exchange rates may cause the value of overseas investments and the income arising from them to rise or fall. The levels and bases of and reliefs from taxation may change. Investors should consult their own tax adviser in order to understand any applicable tax consequences. This list of risk factors is not complete and reference should be made to the documentation relating to the specific investment. An investment should only be made after receiving and reviewing the prospectus or offering memorandum and the risk factors contained therein.

No Warranty: The information, opinions, estimates and content in this document are provided without any representations or warranties of any kind (including, without limitation, representations or warranties as to their accuracy, reliability or completeness), whether express or implied.

Limitation of Liability: JKIM does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect, special or consequential loss or damage (in each case, including but not limited to: business interruption, loss of profits, loss of revenue, loss of anticipated savings and/or loss of good will), arising from, or in connection with the use of information contained in this document; or any decisions you make based on the information, opinions, estimates and content made available to you in this document whether or not such loss is reasonable foreseeable as at the date you read this document or JKIM has been advised of the possibility of you incurring such loss or damage, and whether occasioned by the negligence of JKIM or its employees, agent or subcontractors. This is not intended to exclude or restrict any duty or liability that JKIM has to its customers under the "regulatory system" in the United Kingdom (as defined in the FCA Handbook) or which may not be excluded or restricted as a matter of applicable law.
